NEXT BIG THING

next big thing: snap to it

by teen vogue july 16, 2008

If you're anything like me, you dress yourself in the morning with the hopes of "bumping" into The Sartorialist on the street. But then again, a girl can only wait so long for a close encounter of the Scott Schuman kind. Thank goodness for fashion site Chictopia where you can upload pictures of yourself to share with other fashionable webbies. A do-it-yourself street style blog, Chictopia lets you share your style with the world and check up on photos of other real girls with real style. "My favorite users are Rebecca of The Clothes Horse, Flairtoremember, and Lulu of Everybody is Ugly," says CEO Helen Zhu. "None have a traditional model-like build, but all are very talented at putting together great outfits that suit their body shape and their point of view in style." With such a grassroots take on fashion --style by the people, for the people --and an extensive (and growing!) fan base, it'll only be a short time until Chictopia becomes a household name.

--CONNIE WANG
